FULGOR MILANO: A JOURNEY OF ITALIAN EXCELLENCE

A story of passion and craftsmanship is woven into the legacy of Fulgor Milano, anchored in the heart of Italy's Veneto region and the heritage of the Meneghetti family. It all began in the 1960s when Ampelio Meneghetti began his manufacturing journey, driven by a profound vision to create Italian products that embody meticulous craftsmanship, quality, and elegant design.

Today, his legacy is carried forward by his children, Tiziana, Martina, and Gianni. Guided by their father's commitment and a shared devotion to Italian artistry, they continually refine and elevate Fulgor Milano, inspired by the allure of Italian living and contemporary design. The acquisition of Fulgor in 2009 marked a transformative chapter, blending the rich history of Fulgor's cooking equipment heritage with the Meneghetti family's dedication to excellence.

Gianni Meneghetti, fueled by a desire to honor this legacy, has envisioned a line of residential cooking appliances designed for the North American market—offering an experience that not only meets but surpasses expectations in quality, performance, and sophistication.

“To build the future you need deep roots.”

When I think of Italy, it's luxury fashion, cars and of course...food! I personally saw Fulgor Milano appliances being handcrafted in Italy, and I will add them to the list of beautiful Italian things. Such incredible attention to detail and craftsmanship in the manufacturing process! I've also had several opportunities to cook with Fulgor Milano and the quality that exudes from their appliances is second to none.

We chose Fulgor Milano's matte black color kit for this Sofia Professional Induction Range and fitted it with antique brass bezels and trim to give it a 'chic Italian women in black leather and 18K' vibe. Classic but totally chic, just like its namesake, the real Sofia. A freshly minted icon of intelligent, understated elegance.

Living first hand with the performance of Fulgor Milano in my own kitchen, my recommendation to clients always starts here. We choose Fulgor Milano for it's blend of Italian craftsmanship, modern technology, and a luxury cooking experience. With products that range in aesthetics from contemporary to transitional designs, the right fit is an easy find.
